The 2+1 configuration provides a practical separation between the main living area and the apartment's private rooms. An open-plan American kitchen forms part of the living space, creating a connected setting for cooking, dining and everyday use. The property is offered furnished, an important consideration for buyers who prefer an apartment with an existing furniture arrangement rather than starting with an empty interior.

The balconies are equipped with folding-glass systems, allowing the spaces to be opened when desired while also offering extra protection from wind and changing weather conditions. From the balcony, residents can enjoy views towards the sea and Alanya Castle.

The apartment occupies the fourth floor of a 10-storey building dating from 2012. A lift serves the building, while parking is available within the property's facilities.
